THAT OLD FLOOR you are so ashamed of—our demonstrator, who will be at Planters' Hardware Company (Incorporated) next Monday and Tuesday will show you in a minute how to make it look like a new hardwood floor, and wear like one—hide all the blemishes and make it as light in color as you wish. It will cost you nothing to learn, and you'll be under no obligations to buy.

FORTY BOYS GET SEED CORN

And Are Ready To Complete In The Corn Contest.

About 40 boys were on hand Tuesday to hear the lectures on Corn Culture by W. H. Strange and J. B.
Walker. Much interesting information was given to the young tillers
of the soil who are about to engage in a contest for prizes aggregating nearly $200.

Mr. Walker's lecture was illustrated by a chart designed by himself,
that he has used in his lectures for
the Agricultural Bureau.

A quantity of Boone county white seed corn was distributed. It was furnished free by Commissioner Rankin. The members of the club will compete for cash prizes offered by Hopkinsville business men at the request of Miss Jennie West, superintendent of county schools, who headed the movement here.

A number of other farmer boys will join the club and an additional barrel of seed corn has been contributed by Mr. J. E. Moseley. The girls of the county will organize under similar auspices a chrysanthemum growing club May 21. The cash prizes already raised to reward
the boys and girls aggregate $320.

Some changes have been made in the Executive committee by reason of resignations. It now stands:
Miss Jennie West, Chairman; John
C. Duffy, J. E. Moseley and J. B.
Walker for Corn and W. F. Snyder,
Dr. F. M. Stites and Miss Cora Pringle, for Chrysanthemums.

DOHERTY BOOMERS

Will Go to Bowling Green
In Force.

A big delegation of Hopkinsville
members will go to Bowling Green
next Friday and Saturday to push W. C. Doherty for President of the T. P. A. Mr. Doherty at present
has no opposition for the honor.

FEARFUL OF CONFESSION

Attorneys for McNamara
Call McManigal a Second
Harry Orchard.

CLAIMS TO BE INNOCENT

Allege That McManigal Stated That He Had Made
No Confession.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 28.—Attorney Hilton, chief counsel for the McNamara brothers, charged with dynamiting the Los Angeles Times building, declared yesterday that the defense has to deal with a second
"Harry Orchard problem." He stated that any alleged confession of Ortie McManigal would be attacked.
He interviewed McManigal yesterday and said the prisoner had denied making a confession. J. J. McNamara has issued a statement protesting his innocence.

LANDED ALL RIGHT.

Dynamiters Safe in Jail at Los Angeles.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 28.—John J. McNamara, secretary of the International Bridge and Structural Ironworkers' Association; his brother
James B. McNamara; and Ortie
E. McManigal, the alleged dynamite conspirators accused of blowing up
the Times newspaper plant last October, killing twenty-one men, are in the Los Angeles jail, in separate cells, surrounded by extra guards.
All three are charged with murder.

Their arrival Wednesday, after a sensational journey in irons from Indianapolis and Chicago, signalizes
the beginning of what is expected to be a desperate legal struggle.

Another Will Wilgus.

London, April 28.—The Institution of Civil Engineers of Great Britain
has awarded the Telford gold medal
to an American member, William John Wilgus, the civil engineer of New York, for the paper read by him before the recent session of the institution.

CONVENTION

Of Kentucky Universalists
Being Held Here.

The Convention of Kentucky Universalists is being held at their church, but several churches out of the State have delegates
in attendance. The convention opened last night with a sermon by Rev. John S. Cook, D. D. Dr. Cook
will also deliver the occasional sermon at 11 o'clock this morning. The roll call of churches and appointment of committees will occupy this morning's business session after which there will be several addresses.
There will also be addresses in the afternoon and the election of officers will follow. Rev. Cook will preach tonight and again tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock. The Convention will adjourn tomorrow night.

ATHENAEUM BANQUET

Will Be The Leading Society
Event Next Week.

Covers will be laid for 92 and perhaps more at the Athenaeum banquet next Thursday night at Hotel Latham. The speakers of the evening will be in the following order:
Geo. E. Gary, Toastmaster; John Stites, Davis A. Clark, T. C. Underwood, J. T. Hanbery, C. H. H.
Branch and H. Clay Smith.

DRY TOWN.

All Crofton Liquor Licenses
Expire To-night.

The saloon licenses of the three liquor dealers at Crofton will expire
at 11 o'clock to night, after which the town will be dry. The question of prohibition was voted on at that place last August and the dries won by 31 majority. All of the saloon men had secured license, which run until April 29 of this year and their time expires to-night.

The first book ever printed from movable type at a sale in New York
brought the highest price ever paid for any book. The prize was the Gutenberg Bible, the purchaser, Henry E. Huntington, of Los Angeles, and the price $50,000. The purchase was made at the opening session at the sale of the library of the late Robert Hoe, the largest public auction sale of books ever attempted.

Miss Nancy Ray was married the other day in Edmonson county. If she is the same Nancy who refused to play because her bird died when some of us were schoolboys, she is no spring chicken. Who of us has not shed tears over that touching
poem:

My bird is dead, said Nancy Ray,
My bird is dead, I cannot play,
Go put his cage far, far away,
I cannot bear the sight to day.

Dr. Daniel K. Pearsons, the aged millionaire, Hinsdale, Ill., is running a race with Andrew Carnegie to see if he can give away
more money than the Scotch steel-maker. At present Carnegie is ahead by several millions. Dr. Pear-sons recently celebrated his ninety-

first birthday by giving away $300, 000 for educational purposes. His total gifts, mostly to small colleges, amount to over $6,000,000. Dr. Pear-sons says he has enough money left
to live on.

Boy And Goat Cultivate Corn Field.

Lack of modern agricultural equipment were no odds to a 15-year-old boy of Rogers, Ark., according to an illustrated article appearing in the May number of Popular Mechanics. With the help of his billy goat, the boy hauled manure fertilizer to the field in a small packing-box cart, and then plowed the flint-rock-strewn ground with a little iron plow drawn by the goat.

The yield of 50 bushels of corn
from this acre of rocky ground is one of the finest instances the Agricultural Department has to demonstrate the possibilities of shallow cultivation after careful preparation.

The May American Magazine

The May American Magazine contains the first of a new series of baseball articles by Hugh S. Fullerton. The first article is on base stealing. Ida M. Tarbell contributes an important and interesting discussion of "The Stand-Pat Intellect." The department called "Interesting People" contains sketches of Peter
Newell, Sam Loyd, James Gordon
Bennett, A. Lincoln Fellows and Mrs. Kraus-Boelte. Ray Stannard
Baker writes on "The Meaning of Insurgency." Inez Haynes Gillmore
tells another Phoebe story. Albert Jay Nock contributes a new tax article. Frederick W. Taylor, the inventor of Scientific Management, writes of his invention. There are stories by William J. Locke, Kathleen Norris, Frances Hodgson Burnett,
Edith Ronald Mirrilees and Edgar
C. MacMeichen. "The Interpreter's House," "The Pilgrim's Scrip" and
"The Theater"—all departments—
contain much good reading.

Every Month Near Death.

Eoster, Ark.—Mrs. Fannie Ellis,
of Foster, says: "I was sick for seven years, and half the time could not stand on my feet. Every month
I was very near death. I tried Cardium, and in two months, I was cured, and am now stout and healthy. My friends all ask me now what cured me. My looks are a testimonial to Cardium." No matter how serious or long-standing the trouble, Cardium will help you. It is a mild, vegetable, tonic remedy, especially adapted to relieve and cure the common womanly ailments. It relieves womanly pains and restores womanly strength.

Saw a Meteor.

Centerville, Tenn., April 24.—The most remarkable astronomical phenomenon ever witnessed at Centreville occurred last night at 8:40 o'clock. The churches had just dismissed when the people returning home were startled by an exceedingly bright light in the Southern sky. All eyes were turned at once to see the cause and discovered something resembling a ball of fire with the brightness of a Tungsten burner shoot across the heavens. It took an easterly course, falling at an angle of about thirty degrees. The object appeared to the eye to be as large as a man's head at first and gradually diminished, leaving a tail
a hundred yards long. The town was lighted almost as light as day
for fully thirty seconds. The phenomenon was witnessed by scores of people.

MAKING GOOD

There is no way of making lasting friends like "Making Good"; and Dr. Pierce's medicines well exemplify this, and their friends, after more than two decades of popularity are numbered by the hundreds of thousands. They have "made good" and they have not made drunkards. A good, honest square-deal medicine of known composition is

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

It still enjoys an immense sale, while most of the preparations that have come into prominence in the earlier period of its popularity have "gone by the board" and are never more heard of. There must be some reason for this long-time popularity and that is to be found in its superior merits. When once given a fair trial for weak stomach, or for liver and blood affections, its superior curative qualities are soon manifest; hence it has survived and grown in popular favor, while scores of less meritorious articles have suddenly flashed into favor for a brief period and then been as soon forgotten.

For a torpid liver with its attendant indigestion, dyspepsia, headache, perhaps dizziness, foul breath, nasty coated tongue, with bitter taste, loss of appetite, with distress after eating, nervousness and debility, nothing is as good as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

It's an honest, square-deal medicine with all its ingredients printed on bottle-wrapper—no secret, no hocus-pocus humbug, therefore don't accept a substitute that the dealer may make a little bigger profit. Insist on your right to have what you call for. Don't buy

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Expecting it to prove a "cure-all." It is only advised for woman's special ailments.

It makes weak women strong, sick women well. Less advertised than some preparations sold for like purposes, its sterling curative virtues still maintain its position in the front ranks, where it stood over two decades ago.

As an invigorating tonic and strengthening nerve it is unequalled. It won't satisfy those who want "booze," for there is not a drop of alcohol in it.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, the original Little Liver Pills, although the first pill of their kind in the market, still lead, and when once tried are ever afterwards in favor. Easy to take as candy.

HIS SOCIAL GUIDE

When Georgia came into the room she found Amy on the couch in an attitude of complete dejection.

"Good gracious! What's the matter?" asked the caller. "I thought you were receiving today. Why didn't the maid tell me you were ill?"

"I'm not ill, Georgia, and I heartily wish I wasn't," came Amy's despondent voice from the depths of the sofa pillows.

"Well, if you don't wish to see me, of course—"

"Oh, I'm always glad to see you." Amy raised herself on her elbow and then sank back onto the couch with an exaggerated air of weakness. "I'm only wilted, that's all. I'm so completely covered with chagrin that I can't rise. With that she rose and said dramatically: "If some kind fate had taken me out today I would not have been home to make a complete idiot of myself."

"I suppose you know what you are talking about," remarked Georgia. "But you leave me in the dark."

"Wait till you hear the story and then you will cease to wonder at my present abject condition."

"About ten days ago," related Amy, "I received a letter from my cousin, Billy Spencer, telling me that a friend of his, a Mr. Gilmore, was in Chicago studying law, and he asked me to be nice to him. He's going along on his own account," Billy wrote, "for his father hasn't any sympathy with his legal ambitions. But he's sure to make good, for he's a fine, bright fellow, and his only fault is a little shyness. He needs bringing out, and you're the one to do it, Amy."

"Of course, that flattered me, and I determined to become young Gilmore's social guide, philosopher and friend. I sent him a letter telling him that I was at home Fridays, afternoon and evening. I asked him to call very soon, as I considered any close friend of Cousin Billy's a friend of mine."

"Surely, that was very nice," commented Georgia. "Yes, I was trying to be nice to him," sighed Amy. "Well, he came this afternoon. When we had spoken of Cousin Billy and I had asked him how he liked Chicago there came a pause that I knew could only be filled with tea, so I told our maid, Helga, to bring some at once."

"Do you take cream and sugar?" I inquired. "No, I prefer it straight," he said so jauntily that for a happy moment I congratulated myself that I had succeeded in putting him at his ease. He took one swallow from the cup I gave him and then to his horror and mine it crashed to the floor.

"While he choked and spluttered, I suddenly became conscious of a horrible burning sensation on my lips, to which I had just lifted my cup when the crash came."

"It's ginger" I cried. "Yes," he answered, with tears in his eyes.

"At that moment Helga reappeared and announced calmly that she thought she had brought in the wrong teapot. Then I knew I had given poor Mr. Gilmore some of my grandmother's hot ginger brew which she occasionally takes in small but concentrated doses for her cold."

"I don't know which was the more embarrassed, he or I, while Helga picked up the fragments of the cup and mopped the floor. I tried to explain laughingly how the ginger happened to be substituted for the tea, but evidently the humor of the situation did not strike him, for he said, very solemnly, 'I'm extremely sorry about the cup.'"

"I was gayly assuring him that one cup more or less didn't in the least matter, when to my astonishment and despair, Helga rose from the floor and said: 'Miss Amy, you make big mistake. Your mudder have told me the cups cost very much. She say I must be very careful. I now tell her I have not break this cup. Then she sailed from the room with a righteous air.'"

"What did you do?" "I said with a weak effort at lightness, 'Isn't she droll?' and then I laughed. But there was no response to my merriment. My caller sat still and solemn and I could think of nothing in the world to say."

"At last in desperation I asked him if he noticed the odor of gasoline in the room."

"It seems to me very strong in here," I said. My mother will insist on cleaning the curtains with the stuff, but I detest it."

"He rose with a stiff new dignity and said: 'I'm afraid it's my necktie that offends you. I cleaned it with gasoline this morning. Goodbye.'"

"I was so overcome that I could only mumble, 'Goodbye' in my turn. Then he walked out of the room, leaving me in the state of collapse in which you found me a few minutes ago."

"There's only one consolation about that tragic tale," said Georgia. "He's evidently the kind of serious minded young man who'll make his way without needing much help from anybody."

"Maybe that's so," returned Amy; "but I wanted to be nice to him, and I know he can never be induced to come here again. And what's more, I never want him to come back!"

An Optimist.

"What an optimist Georgia is!" "Yes, every time he loses his umbrella he never worries. He always expects to pick up a better one."

LUCILE'S DIARY

"Yesterday morning Betty telephoned to ask if I was going downtown. If you are," she said, "I should like to have you buy a pair of long white gloves for me to wear to Bob's fraternity assembly tonight. I've just discovered that I haven't a presentable pair, and, of course, Bob wishes me to look my best, for he is chairman of the floor committee. I'm so busy today that I just hate to go downtown."

"I'll be glad to go for you," I said. "It's awfully good of you to make a special trip, Lucile," she exclaimed.

Then I hurried away, for I wished to be early at a sale of lingerie frocks that I had seen advertised. I tried on nine or ten of them before I could come to any decision, and then I had three sent home on approval, for I don't believe in buying thoughtlessly or carelessly.

By the time I had finished this rather exhausting work it was noon and I felt that I needed a more substantial lunch than I could afford to buy, so I went over to father's office, but he was out. I knew it would be useless to wait for him, so I started back to the retail district and was walking slowly down La Salle street when I met Wisner Lee. I told him how I happened to be in that part of town.

"I shall be delighted if you will take lunch with me," he said.

Of course, I protested that I wasn't hungry, but he just laughed and took me to a cafe, where we had a delightful meal.

We ate slowly and lingered over the dessert. I was startled to find how late it was when we rose from the table.

"Let's go to see the pictures at Barndale's," suggested Wisner.

"Oh, have they a new collection there?" I asked. "I should love to go, but I have to buy a pair of gloves for Betty."

"We can run into one of the shops and get the gloves and then go on to Barndale's," said he.

So we walked to the store where Betty trades. I selected a pair of gloves and had them charged and sent to Betty.

"I feel quite out of it," I said, laughingly. "You know that before Uncle Bob married Betty he used to take me to his fraternity dances."

"Why can't we have a little celebration of our own tonight?" asked Wisner. "If we can't go to the assembly, we can go to the theater. We'll just get some tickets before we see the pictures."

I was dressing for the theater in the evening, when mother came into my room and asked for Betty's gloves.

"Betty's gloves!" I repeated. I was fixing my hair in a charmingly quaint style which I had seen that afternoon in one of the most beautiful portraits in the collection.

"Yes, Betty's new gloves that you were to buy for her today," said mother. "Bob is downstairs waiting for them."

"Why, I had them sent to Betty at her home, of course," I explained. Mother left the room, but before I had got even one side of my hair done she was back again.

"Bob wants to know what time you bought the gloves," she said.

"Somewhere between three and four," I replied.

"Well, then, of course they won't be delivered tonight. Why didn't you bring them with you?"

"Now, mother, you know very well that I couldn't carry a package to an art exhibition."

"Well, I don't see what poor Betty can do," sighed mother.

I stopped right in the middle of doing my hair and hunted up some white gloves. "There," I said. "Tell Uncle Bob to take these to Betty. She and I wear the same size."

I regret to say that Betty often violates good taste by venting her ill humor over the telephone. This morning she called me up to tell me that my "carelessness" had just about spoiled her evening.

"What do you mean?" I asked, with dignity.

"You sent me a mismatched pair of gloves and I did not discover it until I was in the dressing-room at the assembly hall."

"No one would notice the difference at night," I replied.

"I think," returned Betty, icily, "that any one would notice the difference between a two-button street glove and a shoulder length glove. It wasn't very pleasant for me to have to appear with bare hands and arms at the most formal affair of the season. Bob was dreadfully annoyed."

I started to say something sympathetic to her, but she had broken the telephone connection. Betty at times is so abrupt as to be positively rude.

Queen Took Blame.

In the days of his youth Sir Charles Dike showed ardent Republican tendencies, and made many speeches in the house of commons and throughout the country against monarchy. Perhaps the best comment on the episode was that of Queen Victoria herself. It has been said that Dike's father had been on terms of intimacy with the prince consort. The queen recalled that she had stroked Dike's hair when he was but a child. "Perhaps," she said, "I rubbed it the wrong way."

CURRENT COMMENT

CREAM OF NEWS COMPILED AND COLLECTED FROM ALL SOURCES

It is about time for that bunch of Macks in California to send for the Doctor.

There is but one question to settle in the trial of the Los Angeles anarchists—to be sure they have the right men. The rest should be easy.

Berger, the Socialist member of Congress, has introduced a resolution to abolish the Senate and take the veto power from the President, and he has been a Congressman only seven weeks.

Now watch out for the Appeal to Reason to take up the cause of the dynamite anarchists run to earth, at Los Angeles. And that's not all. Every night rider in the Black Patch will swear they are innocent.

Four children in less than one year have been born to Mrs. John T. Dowdy, living four miles northwest of Mayfield. On May 6, 1910, twin girls were born to her, and on Sunday, April 23, she presented her husband with twin boys, making four children in less than twelve months. Mrs. Dowdy is only forty years old, and is the mother of fourteen children.

Dr. Ben Bruner, Secretary of State, is still threatening to run for Governor on a platform containing 20 planks, covering pretty much everything from prohibiting an editor from lambasting a candidate to permitting a candidate to get his name under two devices on the same ballot. The Doctor gracefully side-steps on woman suffrage, prohibition and night riding.

Representative Korbly continues to make a great miration because the social line at a naval academy ball was drawn against Miss Katherine Reers, a governess or nurse girl in an officer's family, who was herself of a good family. Young ladies so situated should have some one to vouch for their social status when they enter exclusive society and mistakes would be avoided. Mr. Korbly seems to be trying to do for himself what nature has already done.

Highest Building.

New York, April 28.—Plans were filed by the Broadway-Park Place Company for the construction at Broadway and Park Place of the highest building in the world. From the curb to the apex of the tower it will stand 750 feet. There will be thirty stories in the main building and an additional twenty-five in the tower, fifty-five in all.

The highest building in the world now standing is the Metropolitan tower, 700 feet, three inches, and the second highest the Singer tower, 612 feet. The Eiffel tower, nearly 1,000 feet, a skeleton steel structure, is not reckoned a building.

Trunks Full of Furs.

Furs valued at from $15,000 to $20,000 were found in five trunks in Louisville following the arrest of a man and a woman giving the names of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Bradley. The trunks were found in the house occupied by the two. Aside from the belief that the furs are stolen property, the detectives are at a loss to account for them. Neither the man nor the woman would explain how the furs came into their possession. Detectives also assert they found skeleton keys in Bradley's pockets. Two of the five trunks bear tags of a Cincinnati storage house.

An Old Maid's Legacy.

Miss Rose Robinson, of St. Louis, aged 61, has hoarded $931 from her meager savings as a seamstress, to be given to a child adopted and given her name at her death, through a missionary Society. "It was my wish as a young woman," said to have a little girl of my own," said the gray-haired little woman, "but it was not meant that this wish should be gratified, for no man ever asked me to marry him."

She Forgave Him.

Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont had Dr. John Jackola, one of her woman's suffrage workers who fell in love with her, arrested because he persisted in sending her flowers and poetry of his own composition. She declined to prosecute when he said she was such a "divine goddess" he couldn't help it and promised not to offend again.

Abandonment the Allegation.

Georgia Jones has filed suit for divorce from Fred Jones, alleging abandonment. The petitioner states that she and the defendant lived together for several years after their marriage, but in August, 1909, the separation took place.

Program Committee.

Thos. C. Underwood and Chas. M. Meacham, Hopkinsville, and John S. Lawrence, Cadiz, are a committee to prepare the program for the coming meeting of the T. P. A. at Cerulean Springs.

Rexall Store in Pembroke.

R. Ross Wood, a Pembroke druggist, has connected himself with the "United Drug Co.," the famous Rexall Company, Represented by L. L. Elgin in this city, the largest druggist corporation in America.

Paradise Lost.

The population of Paradise, Muhlenberg county, decreased from 107 in 1900 to 91 in 1910. On the other hand, the town of Milton, Trimble county, increased from 324 to 355.

Two Addresses.

Rev. H. Clay Smith will deliver a temperance address at Buffalo Baptist church tomorrow, Sunday at 11 o'clock a. m. Also at Shiloh Methodist church at 3 p. m.

Voted Out.

Three mayors have been recalled in Pacific coast cities because they neglected to enforce police regulations, prohibiting immoral resorts.

DOUBLE ELOPEMENT

Stirs up a Girls' School at Bristol.

Bristol, Tenn., April 27.—After an exciting flight during which they pursued by the police and professors in an automobile, two young women students from Sullins College, the big Methodist female college in this city, were this evening married to two prep students of King College, a Bristol Presbyterian male college, at Church Hill, Hawkins county, Tenn. They were Miss Anna Harris of Florida and Miss Eula Mae Gavin of Alabama, and were married to Samuel Wood and Kent Kane, respectively.

The elopers left here yesterday in an automobile and had several hours' start of the officers and college professors before it was discovered that the girls were missing. Time was lost in telegraphing along the railroad to officers to have them stopped, as it was not thought that they had gone overland. When it was found in what direction the fleeing couples had gone officers and college professors impressed an auto and started in hot pursuit, only to arrive at Church Hill five minutes after the couple had been married by Rev. W. C. Crockett.

The boys slipped the girls out of the college a few evenings ago for an auto ride and they were promptly expelled, but were being held until their parents could be heard from. Realizing their responsibility for the girls' plight, the boys arranged the double and sensational elopement, and without being detected the four left overland in an automobile. The girls are 17 and 19, respectively, and the boys about one year older. The elopers have not yet returned. It is said that the boys may be prosecuted.

RESIDENCE BURNS

Causing a Loss of Several Hundred Dollars.

The residence of Robert Hopson, near Hawkins, was destroyed by fire a few nights ago. A meat house near by also burned. The loss is several hundred dollars. It is not known how the fire originated. A lamp was left on a table in an upstairs room of the dwelling and it is thought that a window curtain was blown against the lamp and it ignited, causing the flames.

Giving advice is an easy way to narrow trouble.

HER LOST POEM

Abigail Baxter, then, was an old maid. She was thirty-six. She had had no romance in her life and as far as her closest friends knew she didn't want one. There were no weak spots in her character. She wrote poems and sent them away to publishers, but as they were always rejected that didn't weaken her case.

One particular poem—composed on a rainy, dreary day, when all nature wept and sobbed and old maids could sit in the house with their hair down and be sure there would be no callers—was a poem on love. It wasn't such a poem as is usually written, telling of the joyousness of the sentiment and the delights of rambles with Cupid, but it was a satire—a dumpy, chilly, morbid satire. It was meant to reduce the market price of love by 30 per cent. It was meant to warn the young man of twenty and scare the old man of seventy. It took up the sentiment of love in sixteen verses and showed beyond cavil that there was a heap more money in raising squabs or running a boarding house. So far as Miss Abigail went that poem was a success. She enveloped, put in return postage and mailed it to a magazine.

Two weeks. No answer. Four weeks. No answer. Then Miss Abigail Baxter sat down as she had done on several previous occasions and berated the magazine man. If he hadn't read that poem and made up his mind to accept or reject by this time then he was no hustler. He had no right to keep people waiting. He hadn't think he was a tin god because he was a magazine man.

The letter was a satire as well as the poem. The editor answered back that he had rejected the poem after reading the first verse on the day of its arrival and had at once remailed it. He could also write satire.

Miss Abigail Baxter was aroused. She was determined to have it back at any cost of blood and treasure. She wrote to that editor again as only a strong woman thirty-five years old can write. If he had remailed the poem it would have reached her.

If that poem, which hadn't one single fault, and the man who said it had was not a respecter of truth, was not in her hands at the end of two weeks suit for damages would be begun. She was no worm of the dust to be walked on, and so that editor would discover.

He replied that the suit would have to come, but warned her that she would surely be beaten. The red-headed office boy clearly remembered taking that rejected poem to the post-office on a certain day and hour.

Miss Abigail's answer to this was brief. She simply took her pen in hand to say that she would at once put the case in the hands of a lawyer who could not be bluffed nor bribed and instruct him to carry it clear to the Supreme court at Washington, if necessary. The worm had been patient. The worm had suffered. The worm had asked only for justice. Now the worm had turned, and if a certain man ended his days behind the cold iron bars she must be held blameless—that is, the worm must.

Few poets in this world can bluff a magazine editor. They are engaged because they are good at bluffing other folks. Mr. Nicholson, the editor in this case, had turned down poets by the score and never got a knockout in return. In this case, however, he became alarmed. His curiosity was also aroused. He was an old bachelor of thirty-eight and something seemed to tell him that this was the crucial point in his life. He was served with a legal summons to appear in court and he put on his hat and went down to Roseland to see Miss Baxter. He expected asperity, acidity, aggression and lots of other things, but at the same time hoped against it.

As soon as Miss Baxter learned who her caller was she expected denials, assertions, protestations, defiance and other things belonging to the profession of magazine editing, but wished it might not be so.

"I am sorry that this has come about," began the editor in pacific tones.

"And so am I."

"I must beg your pardon for the way I wrote you."

"And I said more than I should."

"Anger drove me to criticize your poem. I did it an injustice. The trouble with it was that it was too lengthy."

"I was afraid of that when I sent it."

"Miss Baxter, I believe you can write a poem on love as I wish you would. I should be glad to publish it. Make it the most hot and blessed sentiment of the human heart."

"I will try."

"That law suit never came off, but a poem was written and published. Mr. Nicholson also frequently found his way down to Roseland. Poems and love were discussed. The lost poem didn't turn up, but it was never even mentioned."

Within a year Miss Abigail Baxter was Mrs. Nicholson and independent of all portofolios.

Then He Got a Pound or Two. Mother—Mercy, child, what in the world has happened to you? Your clothes are all full of small holes.

Willie—Oh, ma, we've been playin' grocery store, and I was the Swiss cheese.

Before Allowing an Operation

Please Read These Two Letters.

The following letter from Mrs. Orville Rock will prove how unwise it is for women to submit to the dangers of a surgical operation when it may be avoided by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She was four weeks in the hospital and came home suffering worse than before. Then after all that suffering Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored her health.

HERE IS HER OWN STATEMENT.

Paw Paw, Mich.—"Two years ago I suffered very severely with a displacement—I could not be on my feet for a long time. My physician treated me for several months without much relief, and at last sent me to Ann Arbor for an operation. I was there four weeks and came home suffering worse than before. My mother advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I did. To-day I am well and strong and do all my own housework. I owe my health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and advise every woman who is afflicted with any female complaint to try it."—Mrs. Orville Rock, R. R. No. 5, Paw Paw, Mich.

Rockport, Ind.—"There never was a worse case of woman's ills than mine, and I cannot begin to tell you what I suffered. For over two years I was not able to do anything. I was in bed for a month and the doctor said nothing but an operation would cure me. My father suggested Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; so to please him I took it, and I improved wonderfully, so I am able to travel, ride horseback, take long rides and never feel any ill effects from it. I can only ask other suffering women to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial before submitting to an operation."—Mrs. Margaret Meredith, R. F. D. No. 3, Rockport, Ind.

We will pay a handsome reward to any person who will prove to us that these letters are not genuine and truthful—or that either of these women were paid in any way for their testimonials, or that the letters are published without their permission, or that the original letter from each did not come to us entirely unsolicited.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health free of charge. Address Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

TRIGG COUNTY

Patient Dies at Asylum of Tuberculosis.

Mrs. Florence Calhoun, an asylum patient from Trigg county, died Monday night. Tuberculosis of the lungs was the cause of death. Mrs. Calhoun was 33 years old and had been in the institution some time. The remains were shipped to Cadiz Tuesday.

To Meet in Owensboro.

The annual meeting of the Kentucky State Dental Association, to be held in Owensboro, May 23 24 25, promises to be of more than usual interest to the dentists of this and neighboring states on account of the numerous new methods and appliances which will be exhibited there.

Dentistry, unlike many professions, cannot be learned altogether from books and magazines, and, consequently, it is almost obligatory for the progressive dentist to attend these meetings. Several dentists from Ohio, Indiana and Illinois will give clinics; in fact everything indicates that this will be the largest and best meeting ever held in Kentucky.

All ethical members of the profession are cordially invited to attend this meeting. Yours truly, HARRY S. LEE, Chairman Press Committee.

First Baptist Church.

Services at First Baptist church tomorrow as follows: Sunday School—9:30 a. m. Preaching—11:00 a. m. Young People—6:30 p. m. Preaching—7:30 p. m. Subject of evening discourse: "What does the Bible mean when it represents men as being lost?" A subject of very great interest to every member of the church will be laid before the meeting at both morning and evening services and every member is urgently requested to be on hand.

JENKINS, KY.

A New Boom Town to be Built in Six Months.

The making of a patch of Kentucky wilderness into a town of 10,000 people within six months was commenced this week when the Post-office Department ordered the establishment of the Jenkins postoffice. Jenkins will be the headquarters of the Consolidated Coal Company's operations in Pike and Letcher counties, Kentucky. It will be the center of the activities of the company which owns and will at once develop thousands of acres of rich coal lands there.

Though the site of Jenkins is but a bit of wild land now, 2,000 homes will be made there within six months and 10,000 persons will be domiciled there.

THIRTY SCHOOLS IN CHRISTIAN

State Secretary of Sunday School Association Completes Census.

The Rev. George A. Joplin, secretary of the Kentucky Sunday school Association, yesterday completed
the compilation of the census of the white Sunday-schools of Kentucky,
a work that has been in progress since January 1. Such a census is made to the International Sunday-school Association, the headquarters of which are in Chicago. The work is interdenominational, and, in this State, embraces the white Sunday-schools of all Protestant churches.

The census shows that there are in Kentucky 3,745 Sunday-schools, a gain of 259 as compared with 3,486
three years ago. The enrollment
this year is 308,174, a gain of 47,164
as compared with 161,000, the enrollment in 1908.

Christian county is credited with 30 Sunday-schools, having a total membership of 2,891.

In Boyle county, according to Secretary Joplin's figures, a larger percentage of children of school age attend Sunday-school than in any other county in Kentucky.

In Favored List.

The State Board of Equalization
has accepted the assessment of Christian county this year, without any changes. Only 40 counties were this fortunate.

FORMER 'FERRELL BOY'

Clarence Gold, of Clarksville,
Dies at Hot Springs.

Clarence Gold, son of B. K. Gold, of Clarksville, died at his home at Hot Springs, Ark., Tuesday night
at 12 o'clock, after an illness of about two weeks. The first intimation of Mr. Gold's serious illness was received in Clarksville Friday morning, and since then he had been sinking slowly, says the Leaf Chronicle.

Mr. Gold was educated in this city, attending Maj. Ferrell's High School in 1878. He was about 50 years of age. His son Benjamin brought the body to Clarksville for interment.

OCTOGENARIAN

Dies at Home of Son-in-law,
Near Laytonsville.

John W. Berry, a prominent citizen of the Laytonsville neighborhood,
died yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock
at the home of his son-in-law,
Thomas Carroll, aged 82 years. Mr.
Berry had an attack of measles and his lungs became affected, causing his death. He had been engaged in farming for a number of years. He was a member of the Methodist church and a most excellent citizen.

Death of George McCraw.

George McCraw, a well known citizen of South Christian, died last Saturday at his home near Pee Dee,
after a long illness of tuberculosis,
aged about sixty years. He is survived by his wife and four children.
Mr. McCraw was a member of the Baptist church.

Pyle-Cavanah.

J. W. Pyle, of Henderson county, and Miss Ella Cavanah, a popular young teacher of Seabee, were married at the home of the groom's
brother, Mr. J. H. Pyle, on West
Seventh street, Wednesday evening.
Rev. E. J. Weller performed the ceremony. Mr. Pyle is a native of Christian but has been living in Henderson county for several years,
where he is engaged in farming.

Keith--Presnell.

Reuben Keith and Miss Ethel Presnell, young people living near Winns, were married at the courthouse Thursday night. Judge Knight performed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Keith spent the night in the city, returning home yesterday morning.

GREATER NAVY FOR CHINA

Program for Its Expansion Includes
the Building of Many Battleships, Cruisers and Gunboats.

The composition of the Chinese navy at present is as follows: One second-class cruiser, seven third-class
cruisers, three torpedo gunboats, 37
gunboats, 20 torpedo boats; total, 68. The total displacement is 45,- 070 tons.

China has, however, now organized a navy department and intends to carry out a construction programme to be completed in seven years.

The programme includes the building of eight first-class battleships, over twenty cruisers and twenty gunboats, the organization of four naval ports at a total cost of 158,- 450,000 taels.

The new fleet will have a total displacement of 250,000 tons. One of the new naval ports will be constructed at Siangshan, Chekiang province. This is one of the many programmes of awakened China, for
she has learned through bitter experience that without being backed by force she cannot hold her own against foreign pressure.—Oriental Review.

WHALING ON PACIFIC COAST

Importance of Cetacean of Western Ocean Now Recognized and He Will Be Pursued.

A large whaling station is to be erected at Sanford Point on Grays harbor by the owners of the two stations now in operation on the west coast of Vancouver island. The common North Pacific whale has been loafing around the waters adjacent to Oregon, Washington and British Columbia since the days of Jonah, but it is only in recent years
that his value has appealed to man.

Inasmuch as this species of whale
attracted no attention when hundreds of Massachusetts whalers were chasing the sperm whales in the far north it is perhaps eminently proper that the industry as now carried on
should be entirely devoid of the romance and excitement that attended the chase of sperm whales. The modern whaling steamer with bomb
guns and other modern equipment
goes out from a station, the whale
is killed and the carcass is towed in and converted into oil with a total absence of any of the features that attended the killing and trying out process in the old days.—Portland Oregonian.

HIS OATH.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., at the recent reunion of the Bible class of which he is vice-president, said of a somewhat abusive magazine writer:

"He attacks his country's greatest
men, but, when I read his attacks,
I can't help thinking that he is rather like old Uncle Rastus.

"Uncle Rastus, testifying in a certain lawsuit, refused to be sworn.
"Ah will affirm," he said.

"But, Uncle Rastus," said the judge, "how is this? Last week, in the Calhoun case, you swore readily enough."

"Yo honah," said Uncle Rastus
solemnly, "Ah was mo' surah o' mah facks in dat case dan in dis one."

CURIOUS PRACTICE.

Robert Dulwich, who has traveled extensively in the lesser known regions of the Himalaya, gives an interesting account of a native sect known as the Tharys, who have some curious practices. The sect are worshippers of the goddess Kali. They believe either in self-destruction or in the sacrifice of one of their fingers to appease the deity.

Thus it comes about that when the eldest member of a family is married the unhappy mother is expected to cut off the first two joints
of the last two fingers of her hand.
Princesses and other smart people
in this remarkable sect are allowed to offer a substitute of finger joints,
modeled in gold.—Eastern World.

DRIVE SPARROWS AWAY.

Sparrows that have made their home on the north side of the avenue
between Ninth and Tenth streets
have been deported. Their owner disturbed the audience in the moving picture theatres and the authorities decreed that they must move.
Accordingly rockets were set off beneath the trees the other day and those sparrows that were not killed or injured flew away.—Washington Herald.

HELD OVER

To Grand Jury on Charge of Manslaughter.

The examining trial of Jack Hatcher, the negro who is charged with shooting and killing Lawson Wiggins, another negro, on Mr. Richard Leavell's farm last Sunday, was held over before Judge Knight yesterday.
Hatcher was held over to the grand jury on a charge of voluntary manslaughter. Bond was fixed at $1,000 and was furnished with Mr. Richard Leavell as surety.

Tobacco Market.

Sales this week show a decided decrease in pounds on the Loose Floors,
as most of the crop has been delivered. Prices have been well maintained, though nothing fine was offered.

Sampling the prized tobacco has gone on steadily, and while some sales have been made, the prices
were on private sales.

QUOTATIONS.

Common lugs $7 50 to $8 50, Good lugs $8 50 to $9, Common leaf $9 to $10.50, Medium leaf $11 to $12.50.

The plants are looking fairly well
but no preparation for planting has yet been made by farmers.

Aims High.

Robert Jones, of Corydon, Ky., is moulding concrete blocks on his farm
and says he is going to build a family monument 300 feet high, covering
the family graveyard 48 feet square.

WAITER LONGED TO TRAVEL

Began Collecting Funds From Diners for European Trip and Got Only to Police Court.

"I have just come from prosecuting a waiter who was trying to practice hold-up methods in this hotel," said the manager of a big uptown hotel. "We had a dinner here the other night for which we had to hire one hundred waiters. We paid them $2.50 for about an hour's work and considered that plenty.

"But after dinner one of these waiters began to pass a plate, telling diners that he was about to make a trip to Europe. He had collected $5 or $6 when one of the head waiters discovered him and threatened to have him thrown downstairs if he did not get out. The other waiters later had our head waiter arrested. In the courtroom the magistrate dismissed the case with a reprimand to the begging waiter. 'If I ever see you doing such a thing at a dinner where I am,' said the magistrate, 'I will give you a summons out of my own pocket.'" — New York Sun.

HISTORY REPEATING ITSELF

Mrs. Jack—The paper tells of a woman who hung to a buoy for 12 hours.

Jack—Hung to a buoy? Well, you used to hug me longer than that.

NO MORAL TO THIS TALE.

Willie Smith was a fighter, but different. He never smoked, drank or swore, and whenever he won a purse he took the money home and poured it in his old mother's lap. She allowed him two dollars a week spending money to buy ice cream sodas.

Tom Jones was a fighter and the toughest thing in town. He smoked, drank and swore proficently. He had no old mother, and if he had he would not have poured any money in her lap. He did not spend his money on ice cream sodas.

Willie Smith and Tommy Jones met in a main bout and in the second round Jones knocked out Smith. Moral: The result of a prize fight is always a gamble.

BELONGED THERE SOMEWHERE.

"Does a man named Jones room here?"

This question was put to a lady at a home on Peachtree street when she had been summoned to the door by a timid ringing of the bell. The inquirer was very earnest, but as much as she would have liked to oblige him the lady was forced to answer him in the negative.

"Thank you, ma'am," he replied dejectedly, and then continued: "You see, I'm Jones. I come from Comer, Ga., and I don't know where I live. I've got a room somewhere right along here, but somehow I can't just seem to locate the thing." A stranger finally helped him find his room.—Atlanta Constitution.

MEMORIALS OF GEN. WOLFE.

The war relics given by Lady Scoresby Johnstone to the Edinburgh Municipal museum have reached their new home. They consist of two field pieces which were used at the siege of Quebec under General Wolfe and two old mortars. The gun carriages are old and worm eaten. A brass plate testifies that "this gun mortar was used by Gen. Wolfe at the siege of Quebec in 1759." — London Globe.

A DIAGNOSIS.

"I feel all gone to pieces this morning."

"I can tell you the reason of it."

"Why is it?"

"Because you're broke."

Let Only Your Affectionate and Cheerful Feelings Be Vocal in Your Home.

The comfort and happiness of home and home intercourse depend very much on the kindly and affectionate training of the voice. Trouble, and care, and vexation will and must, of course, come, but let them not creep into your voices: Let only your kindlier and happier feelings be vocal in your homes. Let them be so—if for no other reason, for the little children's sake. These sensitive little beings are exceedingly susceptible to the tones. Let us have consideration for them. As we advance in years our life becomes more interior. We are abstracted from outward scenes and sounds. We think, we reflect, we begin gradually to deal with the past as we have formerly lived in the present. Our ear grows dull to external sounds! It is turned inward and listens chiefly to the echoes of past voices. We catch no more the merry laughter of the children. We hear no more notes of the morning bird. The brook that used to prattle so gayly to us rushes by unheeded—we have forgotten to hear such things. But little children, remember, sensitively hear them all. Mark how at every sound the young child starts and turns and listens! And thus with equal sensitiveness does it catch the tones of human voices. How were it possible that the sharp and hasty word, the fretful and complaining tone, should not startle and pain, even depress, the sensitive little being, whose harp of life, so gently and delicately strung, vibrating ever to the gentle breeze and thrilling sensitively ever to the tones of such voices as sweep across it? Let us be kind and cheerful spoken, then, in our homes.

THE FLIRT.

He—Good-night, dear. We mustn't kiss or you will take my cold.
She—Never mind—I can pass it on!

WILD RICE IS RED.

A species of wild rice is reported as growing in Senegal, West Africa, that is not only of value as food, but is a bright red in color.

This plant grows along the river Senegal, which overflows its banks regularly. The plant grows very rapidly and manages to keep above the water, which rises slowly but surely each year.

The grain is very hard and dry; it loses most of its color when it is soaked in water for cooking. The natives prize it highly, especially as there is no work in growing it except to gather it when it is ripe, since it springs up each year from the old roots from self-sown seed.

KENTUCKIAN'S MULE.

Few of our people know that Tom Martin, our genial tonsorial artist, ever dealt in mules, but such is the case. Some years ago he purchased a mule from William Simmons for $25 and agreed to give him 250 shaves for the sad voiced quadruped.

After he had cut Mr. Simmons' whiskers for a year or so he put the mule on pasture on the Simmons farm and finally let Mr. Simmons have the mule back in payment of the pasturage bill. Tom said it felt nice to own a mule, but the animal was a little too expensive.—Shepherdsville News.

Rockford, Ala.—Mrs. M. C. Paschal, of this place, says: "I was taken with nervous prostration, and had headache, backache, pains in my right side, and smothering spells. I called in physicians to treat my case, but without relief. Finally, I tried Cardui, and it gave perfect satisfaction. I recommend it to every sick woman." Are you weak, tired, worn-out? Do you suffer from any of the pains peculiar to weak women? Cardui has a record of over fifty years in relieving such troubles, and will certainly benefit you. It prevents those frequent headaches, and keeps you up, out of bed, feeling fresh and happy. Try Cardui.

NAMING OF TRIPLETS

Washington, April 26.—President Taft received a request from George and Lydia Duncan, of Corydon, Ky., to name two of three children born to the Duncans on March 8.

Mr. Duncan in a letter countersigned and attested by Mrs. Duncan, "extended the honor" of naming one of the triplets, a boy, to Mr. Taft, and suggests that Mrs. Taft name another, a girl.

The President has not indicated whether he will accept the honor.

AMUSEMENTS

Harry Bulger's starring vehicle, "The Flirting Princess," which comes to Holland's Opera House, Friday night, May 5, has a wealth of music, comedy, telling comic situations and funny lines, as well as a cast of stars and what Manager Mort Singer regards as the prettiest and most talented chorus that any production ever possessed. The is a score of feature numbers of one sort and another. Among them are the original Apache dance, the engaging dance of the famous Apache of Paris; and the famous Vampire dance, founded on the theme of the Burne-Jones painting and Kipling's poem.

SMALL STATES OF EUROPE

Something About the Tiny Republics of Andorra and San Marino and Principality of Liechtenstein.

It is usually supposed that Monaco is the smallest, independent state in Europe, but as a matter of fact there are three states that are still smaller. It is also a matter of common belief that France, Switzerland and Portugal are the only republics in Europe, but there are two others, the republics of Andorra and San Marino. These two republics and the principality of Liechtenstein are all of them smaller than Monaco and they all claim to be autonomous and independent. Liechtenstein is crowded away between Austria and Switzerland, and it used to have a tiny army of its own, but this was abolished for fear some one might want to fight with it. Austria keeps a benevolent eye upon Liechtenstein, while France performs a similar paternal function toward Andorra, which is in the eastern Pyrenees, but San Marino looks after her own territory, 33 square miles in extent, without foreign aid. The people of San Marino are as proud of their glorious republic and of its enlightened institutions as republicans anywhere else. San Marino has an army of 1,000 men and these one thousand men have been found amply sufficient to keep at bay the predatory hordes of military Europe.

GERMANS OUTDO CHINESE

Cleverly Imitate Embossed Jewelry of Orientals and Even Make a Wonderful Bogus Jade.

The power of German imitation is strikingly exemplified in a recent creation of jewelry embossed with Chinese characters signifying "longevity" and "good luck," heretofore exclusively manufactured by the leading Chinese firms of Canton and Hongkong, consisting of cuff links, watch fobs, cravat pins, brooches and other articles.

The German creation is of superior workmanship, although the grade of gold is greatly inferior, the German standard being but 14 carats, while that of the Chinese runs from 18 to 24 carats.

The German manufacturers have outdone themselves in the creation of stone in actual representation of the jade stone of China. I am informed by a jeweler that the German article so closely represents the genuine Chinese jade that dealers themselves can be deceived. The leading Chinese houses are about to substitute these imitation stones in their mountings and it behooves Oriental travelers to remember this when purchasing jade ornaments.—Consular and Trade Reports.

CURB ON STUDENTS.

Chinese students in America have been told by the Kioun-ki-tch'ou, the imperial council that stands next to the person of the infant emperor and governs the empire, that they need not send any more telegrams from New York and elsewhere in the United States advising that body how to run the government in Peking. It has also been announced by that august cabinet in an official proclamation for distribution through the middle kingdom that a student's only task is to study what the western civilization has to teach. Maybe when he graduates and comes back to China the imperial government will ask his advice upon affairs of state.

RELIGIOUS HOUSES OF BELGIUM.

The recent census of Belgium shows that mortmain is not a dead letter there. Since the last return the number of monks has increased by three per cent., while the congregations of women show an augmentation of 15 per cent. At the present time there are 1983 monks of different orders in the kingdom and 16,870 nuns. Of recent years the property of the religious houses has increased enormously, in consequence of the accession of numbers of young ladies, daughters of rich parents. It may be added that the population is 6,524,372, of which two-thirds are Roman Catholics.

UNSCRUPULOUS INDEED.

KITTY MEWS

Two opinions that show the spirit of the neighborly feeling of our colleagues:

Base Ball Doings.

Hoptown played Terre Haute again Tuesday and the Hoppers gave the Miner's a scare. Terre Haute nosed out a victory in the ninth by a score of 9 to 8. The Star says: It looked mighty dubious towards the last and the bugs were fearful lest the Hopkinsville Kitty League team, class D club, would show up the Terre Haute Central League pennant contenders on the day before the opening. The Moonshiners were eager to do just that and they tried to win with all the spirit and enthusiasm of youngsters breaking in. But class told and Wheeler's team won out. The Nightriders had their batting eyes and aided by some rank errors of the Coal Miners, the class D. 'rookies, almost won the game.—Vincennes Sun.

We do not see by press dispatches that the wonderful Hopkinsville team is creating much excitement during its barnstorming trip in Illinois.—Clarksville Leaf Chronicle.

Poor Little Town.

The soliciting committee of the Clarksville Baseball Club report subscriptions of about four hundred dollars received yesterday. Only five hundred more necessary.—Leaf Chronicle.

Hopkinsville beat Clarksville on attendance at games last season but we must not permit that to occur this season, says the Leaf-Chronicle.

You could have said that Hopkinsville did the same to all the other cities in the League last season, but we are glad that you got out from your state of hypnotism long enough to admit that we beat you in attendance, now wake up again and see if we didn't beat the life out of your team in games won.

Lyman Johnson, the pitcher purchased from Terre Haute arrived yesterday, two days ahead of the team. He lead the League with Vincennes, last season winning 20 games and losing 10. He is a right-hander and a husky young fellow who is sure to become a favorite with the fans.

GOEBEL AWARD CASE

Passed Upon by Louisville Circuit Court.

Frankfort, Ky., April 28.—Detectives who brought suit against the Goebel reward fund commission for the capture and conviction of Henry E. Youtsey and Jim Howard, charged with taking part in the assassination of Gov. Goebel in January, 1900, were awarded $5,500 in the state circuit court here. The detectives are T. R. Griffin, of Somerset, Ky., and William Harding and "Dee" Armstrong, of Louisville. Their petition requested an award of $10,000.

RESOLUTIONS

Of Respect On the Death of Brother Chas. L. Daniel.

(By Evergreen Lodge No. 38, Knights of Pythias.)

Hopkinsville, Ky., April 27, 1911.

Whereas, the Death Angel has again visited our lodge and called from life to an untimely death our beloved brother, Charles L. Daniel, who departed this life April 21st, 1911, and while the solemn notes of warning has again reminded us of this frail and transitory life and of the certainty of death, may it better prepare us to fit ourselves as living stones for that spiritual building made with hands eternal in the heavens. Therefore be it resolved: First. That he was faithful to his convictions of right and was obedient to the demands of honor and justice in every-day life, and remembering his many virtues, we are indeed grieved at the loss of our beloved brother, and drop the tear of affectionate sympathy.

Second. That this community has lost one of its best and most upright citizens, known and honored for charitable acts and integrity, whose departure left the footprints of a model life on the sands of time.

Third. That the Christian church, of which he was a member, has lost one of its best members, who was always ready to speak a word for his Maker, and a word of cheer for the little folks and comfort for the lonely ones.

One by one the links are broken
All along the shores of time,
One by one the silent boatman
Bears the gentle spirits home.

Fourth. That we extend to the bereaved family our sympathy. But realizing the utter failure in our intentions to bring comfort, we commend them to the Heavenly Father, who says: "I will never leave or forsake thee," who promised to be a father to the orphan and a husband to the widow.

Fifth. That we keep his memory fresh in our minds by spreading a copy of these resolutions on a page of our minute book; a copy be given to the bereaved family, and a copy be furnished the Kentucky Pythian, Hopkinsville Kentuckian and Kentucky New Era for publication.

GAME BOY

Fights 15 to 1 Odds in Battle To the Death.

Mexico City, April 27.—Refusing to surrender or to leave the train on which he and his command of thirty soldiers were being brought to the capital, a second lieutenant, little more than a boy, yesterday engaged in a battle with a force of 400 rebels at Cajones, Guerrero. At the conclusion of the brief encounter twenty-eight of the soldiers were dead and the lieutenant and the remaining two of his men were prisoners. One of the arms of the lieutenant had been shot away.

At no time during the engagement did the federals betray signs of cowardice. With the blood of their companions running from the doors of the little second-class coach, the men coolly fired into the ranks of their assailants until but two remained with their wounded lieutenant.

One passenger, Luis Bustamente, a young civil engineer who was on his way to the capital to be married to Miss Elena Tamborrel, was killed in another coach while kneeling beside a girl passenger.

New Pastor.

Rev. S. E. Tull, of Pine Bluff, Ark., has been called as pastor of the First Baptist church of Paducah. He is young and eloquent and will take charge July 1.

DECLINED WITH THANKS

Taft and Roosevelt Refuse to Name Triplets.

Henderson, Ky., April 28.—"Declined with thanks" is the substance of letters received by Mr. and Mrs. George W. Duncan, of Corydon, from former President Theodore Roosevelt, President Taft, Mr. Russell Sage and Miss Helen Gould, all of whom had been invited name triplets born to the Duncans March 8 last.

"Well, well," said the mother holding the letters from the notables in her lap. "I thought they forgotten our request. I'm George and I didn't wait to name the babies now." To a neighbor Mrs. Duncan confided that she her husband had grown tired of apparent delay and had named children themselves. They will be called Ralph, Ruth and Ruby.

KILLED THE KEEPER

Murderer of Lockup Keeper In Jail in This City.

Lockup Keeper Ed O'Bannon died at 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, twenty-five hours after he knocked unconscious from a blow shovel in the hands of John Wilb, prisoner crazed for his freedom.

Feeling against Wilby is so great that County Judge Bradley sent prisoner to jail here for safe keeping. O'Bannon's death culminates is considered by many as the outrage that has been perpetrated in Madisonville for years and a charge of murder against assailant.
